

Mission

We foresee a near future where Digital Marketplaces will be the privileged space for business and transactions.

Global networks, particularly Internet, will bridge all the markets and join consumers.

MarketWare assumes itself has an European company with the mission of bringing to the markets and their players, solutions that enables them to benefit from the new technological means and the paradigms of digital economy.